PROVIDENT HEALTHCARE PARTNERS ADVISES COMPREHENSIVE AUTISM CENTER IN ITS ACQUISITION BY THE SPEECH PATHOLOGY GROUP

Comprehensive Autism Center (CAC), an autism services provider offering in-home and center-based ABA therapies, has been acquired by the Speech Pathology Group (SPG), a portfolio company of Ridgemon Equity Partners. Comprehensive Autism Center provides clinically proven, community-oriented, and outcome-tracking treatments to pre- and early school aged clients throughout Southern California. Provident Healthcare Partners ("Provident") served as exclusive financial advisor to Comprehensive Autism Center. The terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

"When we approached Provident about finding a partner for CAC in the next phase of evolution for autism treatment, they were incredibly strategic and detail focused. From the inception of the process to the very end they were extremely well prepared and made the process seamless. Ultimately, they have assisted CAC and all our families in taking a step toward receiving the highest quality autism treatment," stated by Comprehensive Autism Center's owners Andrea and Chris Macken, "Looking back we feel very grateful to have Provident and their incredible team of specialists represent CAC."

Rebecca Leiba, Managing Director at Provident Healthcare Partners, said "this transaction will give the Macken's and the entire CAC team the resources to take their industry leading approach to ABA therapy and impact far more families in Southern California and beyond." She added, "Andrea and the clinical team at CAC have worked to create a gold standard of care in the industry and with Ridgemon's help will look to shape the future of the industry in an incredibly positive way."

About Comprehensive Autism Center

CAC was founded in 2008 by Board-Certified Behavior Analyst (BCBA) Andrea Macken. With over 20 years of field experience, Andrea saw a need among families living with autism for more comprehensive services, guidance as well as compassion. Partnering with her husband Chris Macken, Andrea created CAC as an expert ABA resource dedicated to supporting the whole family.
